

CHRISTINE VAN DUSEN

WRITER / EDITOR

✉ christine@cvdwrites.com

☎ 678-613-8956

🌐 cvdwrites.com

🏠 266 E. Parkwood Rd.
Decatur, GA 30030

📁 WORK EXPERIENCE

Writer and Editor – Freelance

Atlanta, Georgia

Jan. 2007 - present

Reporter, editor, and blogger for such clients as Atlanta Magazine, AFP, and the Chicago Tribune. Co-author of Fodor's The Carolinas and Georgia, 18th edition. I focus on women's issues, social justice, health, music, travel, criminal justice, education, and business. I also write content for nonprofits and corporate clients, including the Southern Poverty Law Center and McKinsey Consulting.

Reporter and Editor – Atlanta Journal-Constitution

Atlanta, Georgia

Sept. 2000 - Aug. 2006

Wrote daily news stories and in-depth features. Covered banking, workplace issues, retailing, and small business. Served as an editor in the Business department in 2004 and 2006, managing six-person teams of reporters, conceiving coverage strategies, and participating in high-level planning.

Reporter and Columnist – Democrat and Chronicle

Rochester, New York

Feb. 1998 - Aug. 2000

Broke news and wrote features on small business while writing a weekly column on struggling entrepreneurs. Covered two public companies in the airline industry. Worked on investigative projects.

🎓 EDUCATION

JOURNALISM

KNIGHT-WALLACE FELLOWSHIP
2007

Audited college classes — on everything from theism to terror networks — while spending time with journalists from all over the world as a participant in this program.

University of Michigan
Knight-Wallace Fellowship
(Ann Arbor, Mich.)

PRINT JOURNALISM

MASTER OF SCIENCE
1996

This is where I learned to tell stories, beat deadlines, drink coffee, copyedit, encourage reluctant sources to talk, investigate, and turn wonky data into compelling journalism.

Northwestern University
Medill School of Journalism
(Evanston, Illinois and Washington, D.C.)

ENGLISH

BACHELOR OF ARTS
1995

Read books, wrote papers, graduated cum laude. Loved creative writing but knew I needed a steady job, so I tried journalism — and I fell in love.

University of Rochester
(Rochester, NY)

♥ FUN FACTS

- I've been a certified fitness instructor since 2007, teaching spin, strength, and Pilates.
- I'm a classically trained musician, and sing in an a cappella band called Best to Burn.
- I'm an endurance athlete, and completed a 12-hour overnight endurance event — twice.
- I'm the proud mom of two boys, ages five and seven, who are kind-hearted, funny, smart, and hate wearing pants.
- I was a finalist for the Livingston Award and had my work mentioned in The Best American Sports Writing Anthology for 2015.
- I speak some Spanish and some French, and I've traveled to England, Spain, France, Ireland, Peru, Uruguay, Argentina, Mexico, Canada, Estonia, Holland, Lithuania, Turkey, and Syria.
- I was a volunteer in the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit at DeKalb Medical in Atlanta.
- I was a journalism professor at Georgia College and State University in the fall of 2009.
- I was the lead singer for the world's first all-female tribute to Van Halen.

👤 SOME CLIENTS, PAST AND PRESENT

Journalism:

- Agence France-Presse
- Atlanta Magazine
- Charlotte Magazine
- Chicago Tribune
- Delta Sky Magazine
- Fodor's Travel
- PAGE One Magazine
- The Progressive
- Publishers Weekly
- US Weekly
- The Week

Corporate and nonprofit:

- McKinsey Consulting
- Newell Rubbermaid
- The Southern Poverty Law Center
- Lenbrook
- Emory University
- Santa Fe University of Art and Design
- Spelman College
- All About Developmental Disabilities

✍️ A GLIMPSE AT MY WORK

A speeding foul ball crashed into the skull of a six-year-old girl just rows ahead of me, my husband, and our baby boy at an Atlanta Braves game, and for years after I wondered what had happened to her. In 2014 I found out, and told her gripping story in "Foul Territory." (Atlanta Magazine, August 2014) The piece won the Award for Excellence in Print from the Atlanta Press Club and was mentioned in the 2015 Best American Sports Writing anthology. The story also raised awareness about the dangers of the ballpark, and started a national conversation about who should be held responsible when a child is hurt.

🗣️ A TESTIMONIAL

"Christine was a real pleasure to work with. She was an absolute professional. She delivered to us a well-written story on deadline and was very receptive to our editing suggestions. I would recommend her without hesitation."
~ Amit Pal, managing editor, The Progressive

★ AREAS OF EXPERTISE

BUSINESS WOMEN'S RIGHTS
FITNESS HEALTH
SOCIAL JUSTICE MUSIC
EDITING STORYTELLING
EDUCATION POP CULTURE
CRIMINAL JUSTICE FOOD TRAVEL
SPORTS ENTREPRENEURSHIP

👤 REFERENCES

- Jan Winburn, editor, CNN:
Jan.Winburn@turner.com
- Claire Blome, former editor, Laureate Education:
Claire.Blome@gmail.com
- Rebecca Burns, former editor, Atlanta Magazine:
Rebecca@Rebecca-Burns.com